

ABSTRACT

[0029] A computing system including a remote thin client and a server are disclosed. The server transmits a display command to the remote thin client. The remote thin client displays an image according to the display command.

FOOTNOTES